Responds to D.E. Shaw's False Narrative about CoStar Group

ARLINGTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 5, 2026-- CoStar Group, Inc. (NASDAQ: CSGP), a leading provider of online real estate marketplaces, information, analytics, and 3D digital twin technology in the property markets, today issued the following statement in response to the letter issued by D. E. Shaw Group ("D.E. Shaw").

On top of Board change already obtained last year, D.E. Shaw is seeking majority change of CoStar Group's Board of Directors based on arguments that demonstrate a fundamental misunderstanding of our business and push a false narrative that we have not substantially engaged with D.E. Shaw or considered their feedback. The truth is, the Board and management team listened to and responded to D.E. Shaw's requests, including:

- Refreshing the Board with three new independent directors, two of which were recommended by D.E. Shaw and Third Point, and announcing a new independent Board Chair.
- Forming a Capital Allocation Committee to support the Board's and management's comprehensive review of the Company's capital structure, capital allocation priorities, and financial targets.
- Moderating net investment in Homes.com by $300 million in 2026 and $100+ million annually thereafter to achieve break even exiting 2029 while at the same time increasing investment in our commercial product offerings.
- Accelerating the completion of our $500 million share repurchase program initiated in 2025 and authorizing a new $1.5 billion repurchase program in January 2026.
- After engaging the top 50 stockholders representing 77% of shares outstanding, implementing a redesigned executive compensation program for 2026, with more rigorous and quantitative goals, enhanced transparency, and a simplified structure.

Just as with Third Point, D.E. Shaw has not heard the answer it wants with respect to Homes.com and so has latched on to a manufactured tale of governance shortcomings starring a CEO who would be unrecognizable to most of CoStar Group's long-term stakeholders.

The reality is that CoStar Group's management team and Board have tried to help D.E. Shaw understand the value creation potential for Homes.com and the fact that the Company is on a responsible plan to realize it. Despite fourteen meetings over the past nine months – including two meetings with independent directors without participation by CoStar Group's CEO – D.E. Shaw trotted out a tired and easily refutable narrative of Board insulation littered with petty mischaracterizations. Elsewhere, D.E. Shaw predicates its arguments on assertions that Homes.com will not reach goals the Company has laid out without offering any compelling evidence to support its assertions.

In the month since announcing our new strategic plan, our CEO has met in person with more than 300 stockholders, the vast majority of whom express enthusiasm for our clear focus on accelerating our EBITDA growth and the exceptional potential within Homes.com. There is strong stockholder alignment with the Board's unanimous support for a strategy that includes Homes.com as a core driver of creating durable long-term shareholder value.

CoStar Group has a long track record of developing and expanding industry-leading platforms that advance our comprehensive global digital real estate ecosystem. Our proven playbook allows us to drive significant profitable growth that has translated into compelling long-term stockholder returns.

With the heavy investment phase of Homes.com complete, we are now down the path to monetize the investment. The single-family residential market is the largest real estate market in both the U.S. and the world and is critical to our overall growth opportunity. Homes.com materially expands the addressable market over which we can deploy CoStar Group's data, analytics, and AI capabilities, allowing us to capture the benefits of that investment with greater scale and durability. Scaling Homes.com has already generated positive network effects for CoStar Group, including increased traffic and leads at Apartments.com and the ongoing integration of new technology across the Company, particularly in AI. Our 2026 and long-term guidance reflect our confidence in our ability to repeat our prior successes and to unlock the significant potential of our digital ecosystem for stockholders. Our guidance reflects the benefit of initiatives across our core platform that would not be possible without Homes.com.

Eliminating a business that is embedded across the CoStar Group, driving network benefits and additional products in our other businesses, with the majority of required investments complete, is wholly impractical and shortsighted. Homes.com is a natural evolution of the residential platform, which we have operated since 2014, and is a critical partner for Apartments.com. Abandoning Homes.com, as D.E. Shaw and Third Point suggest, would cause irreparable harm to our entire business and lead to certain and significant value destruction. D.E. Shaw and Third Point's attempt to prescribe a break-up, sale or amputation remedy misdiagnoses an imagined patient and smacks of activism malpractice.

We encourage stockholders to read our full response to Third Point's ill-informed criticisms here.
